The National Housing Bank (NHB) was set up in July 1988, under an Act of the Parliament to operate as a principal agency to promote housing finance institutions both at local and regional levels and to provide financial and other support to such institutions and for matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.

As per the NHB Act, 1987, National Housing Bank is expected, in the public interest, to supervise the housing finance system of the country to its advantage or to prevent the affairs of any housing finance institution being conducted in a manner detrimental to the interest of the depositors or in a manner prejudicial to the interest of the housing finance institutions. The other roles of NHB include financing and promotion.
