The National Housing Bank (NHB) was set up in July 1988, under an Act of the Parliament. The Bank is a wholly owned subsidiary of the Reserve Bank of India (RBI). NHB's principal mandate has been to establish a network of housing finance outlets across the vast expanse of the nation to serve different income and social groups in different regions and cover a wide range of activities related to housing and human settlement. Among the multiple responsibilities entrusted to NHB under Section 14 of Chapter IV of the NHB Act, 1987, the development of human resources in the sector is a major agenda of the Bank. This is sought to be addressed partially through training programmes, seminars and symposia on matters related to housing for the officials of the Housing Finance Companies (HFCs), Commercial Banks and Public Housing Agencies.
